Young Farmers May Face Serious Charge

Police authorities as well as county authorities in Greene, Fayette and Clinton counties, have unearthed what is regarded as information worth while relative to the murder of Patrolman Emory McCreight of Wilmington and Patrolman Elvas Matthews of the Xenia police department.

Indications lead to the fact that Louis Vandervoort, aged 20, son of a very prominent family near Jamestown, may be held for these acts. The authorities have the confession of friends of young Vandervoort who had been implicated in certain alleged robberies.

Those under arrest for robberies are Walter Bingham, 20, Port William Archie Glass, 21, near Jamestown and Frank McGowan, 20, near Trepines, all members of good families. Robberies of the Wickensham Hardware Company in Jamestown, the Boring Book Store, Xenia, Harper Drug store, Jamestown as well as stores in Washington C. H. and Wilmington, may be cleared up by these confessions.

Young Vandervoort was arrested in Washington C. H. for the theft of a camera from a drugstore last week and this lead to the implication of the three boys and their confession that Vandervoort had told them he had killed the two officers. Vandervoort has much of the desperado in his make up if all stories emanating from these confessions can be taken as true.

All four boys are under arrest in Wilmington and Sheriff Sharp and Prosecutor Kenneth Williamson, along with officers from Fayette and Clinton counties are working night and day to clear up the situation.

When the officers searched the Vandervoort home it is said that they found more than $500 worth of material which included guns and all kinds of revolvers with ammunition. In the lot were motor supplies and other goods such as was taken from the various stores that were robbed.

Deputy Sheriff John Baughan received the tip that Vandervoort may have had something to do with the killing of the Wilmington policeman.

The worst of the affair is that another man has been found guilty and is now serving a life sentence for the murder of the Wilmington officer, McCreight. This man is Leroy McKimley of Cincinnati. Another man, Jim Reno, is awaiting trial on the same charge. It is said that the wife of McKimley protested that her husband was guilty of the act as charged for the reason that the two attended a picture show together that night.

The evidence was said to be furnished by a detective agency and if it turns out that Vandervoort was the guilty one, McKimley will get his liberty and Reno will never be tried.

Young Vandervoort drives a small Packard six touring car with nickel radiator, the one thing that witnesses say was on the car when the murder was his getaway after killing Matthews in Xenia. According to the confession Vandervoort drove down west Main street following the shooting and then back up town but was never suspected at the time. Another report is that he had planned to hold-up the Sawyer-Hemphill drugstore in Xenia that same night but upon approaching the store found too many loafers about and he drove away.

The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Vandervoort of near Jamestown.

The cases have excited much interest in all three counties.

COLLEGE NOTES

The first semester of the present collegiate year closes today.

This is examination week. The examinations, like the weather, are rigorous and lasting.

Miss Brand has been confined to her bed with the grip this week. Other members of the faculty that have had a taste of the grip are President McChesney and Prof. Fraser. All are convalescing.

Students who have had the grip are E. D. McKune, Marston Hunt, Alice Lackey and Harold Myers. Mr. Myers is very sick, but it is hoped that he will soon recover.

Rev. G. A. Scott, D. D., the pastor of the First M. E. church, Xenia, will make the opening address of the College the second semester. This semester will open Jan. 31, 1923 at 9:30 A. M. Dr. Scott's address will be given the following day at 9:30 A. M. Dr. Scott is a favorite speaker in Cedarville and we shall be glad to have the public present at this address, Feb. 1.

Several new students are expected to enroll at the opening of the new semester next, Wednesday, Jan. 31. The college will then be organized for the new semester's work and recitations will begin the next day at 8 A. M.

One hundred and forty-five students were enrolled in the college during the semester which has just closed. The greater part of these were regular collegiate students.

Supt. Aultman visited the college last Thursday and gave a splendid talk in chapel. He is always a welcome visitor.

The new science hall is expected to be ready for occupancy in March. The room that it will afford is greatly needed.

Contributors to the Building and Endowment Fund, who have not yet entered their subscriptions for this year, will confer a great favor by promptly paying it so that the college authorities may be able to meet their payments on the new building.

Jan. 31 will be a good chance for any boy or girl, who has not yet entered college, to enroll in Cedarville College. The way is open to all. The cost is very low. The chance comes only once in a life-time.

President McChesney will leave the last of this week for Waverly, O., where he will make two addresses to the Pike County Teachers' Institute on Friday. That evening he will leave Waverly for Lafayette, Ind., where he will preach twice on Sabbath in the Central Presbyterian church, of which Rev. Wm. Graham, D. D., is the pastor. He expects to return to Cedarville, Monday.

BENJAMIN F. IRVINE DEAD

Benjamin Frank Irvine, a former resident of this place for many years, died Thursday at the County home after a short illness. He had been feeble for some time but was not regarded seriously until his last sickness. The deceased was born at Rappas Mills, Rockbridge county, Virginia, July 1, 1844. He was a brother of the late deceased George Irvine, and the last of a family of twelve brothers and sisters. He came to Greene county and has lived here most of the time. He has two nieces both of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Edna Horton and Mrs. Mary Ellis. Burial took place at Jamestown.

START ON WESTERN TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Smith left on Tuesday for Whittier, Cal., to be gone about six weeks. Mr. Smith was desirous of making the trip as his mother, Mrs. Seth W. Smith has not been in good health. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tarbox leave Friday evening for Chicago where they will join a party of Ohio lumbermen going west. The trip will be made by way of Minneapolis, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles and home by way of Denver.

TIME EXTENDED AGAIN

Mayor Mott has received a communication from Secretary of State, Thad Brown, that the time for getting automobile licenses has been extended until February 15. This was necessary in that all the counties have not yet been supplied with required number of tags. The recent fire at the pen where the tags are made has held up quick shipments.

IT WAS A SHORT TRIAL

It only took the jury ten minutes in Common Pleas court the other day to decide the cases of Pratt and Allen of Madison county who were charged with stealing hogs from Thompson and Mace last fall. Both men were acquitted.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR THE WEEK

The epidemic of influenza and grip brought about the closing of the public schools on Friday at noon. Last week there were around 100 pupils absent each day with three teachers. This week only three were absent and the board considered it advisable to close the schools for the rest of the week. With many students out it meant that the work would have to be gone over again. It was also a matter of safety to close at this time as several cases of coal gas were reported.

COLUMBUS WILL BE A BUSY PLACE NEXT WEEK

Columbus will be a busy place next week with the managers of the state holding their meetings at the O. S. U. The newspaper interests including the daily papers meet Monday and Tuesday.

WOULD YOU KNOW ONE IF YOU HAPPENED TO SEE IT?

Over in Madison county they are digging up the old corn husking pegs. We wonder if there is any one here who never saw one? We know a lot of people who are not looking for even a new peg let alone an old one.

JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS STILL SEEKING STATE AID

The school situation at Bowersville has not changed and the schools will be closed unless money is forth coming from some source. The tax payers at the last election voted down an extra levy. County Supt. Aultman with Dr. C. E. Ream of Bowersville and Jack O'Bryant, president of the board went to Columbus seeking state aid on Wednesday.

NO CHANGE YET.

The railroad company still are operating trains on the new schedule regardless of the fact that the State Utilities Commission and the Courts have ordered the old schedule restored. Reports are in circulation that the company is going to yield and make the change but has not taken place yet. We have been told that most of the reports in circulation are from union sources. The railroad unions are keeping up agitation for the old service as a number of men were reduced in rank by the change. The company claims that trains taken off did not pay expenses.

THRESHERS ARE UP IN ARMS

The State Association of Threshers is out to defeat a bill in the legislature that if passed will require them to remove cleats on all traction engines. It is said that the good roads forces are behind the bill as cleats break the hard surface of the roads and do great damage. The threshers say that they are compelled to use them to get about where threshing outfits must set to thresh.

NO MORE WORRY

Tax collection closed last Saturday in the county so we won't have to worry about that until next June. The collection this year was up to the standard. Most people realize now that taxes have to be paid so do not let them become delinquent.

Wallace Reid's Death Recalls Local Events

The death of Wallace Reid, noted movie star, last Thursday, at Los Angeles, Cal., after a battle for life following a breakdown as the result of habit-forming drugs, recalls to us some local events in the life of the young man's father, Hal Reid, a former Cedarvillian.

Young Wallace Reid was said to be one of the most brilliant young men on or off the stage. Previous to his entrance on the stage he was engaged in the newspaper business in Newark N. J. His father and mother being noted theatrical stars the young man took up his stage career and it was of long until he had reached the pinnacle of fame. In the movie world he was almost worshipped by the fans.

Hal Reid, known to many of our people was the son of Dr. Hugh Reid, a local dentist, who came from a large family of Reids that numbered scores in this section in those days.

Many accounts have appeared in the daily press within the past few days that touched on the Reid family history but much of the information was incorrect.

Dr. Hugh Reid lived and practiced dentistry in the residence on Miller street now occupied by Mr. Sidney Smith. From here he went to Cincinnati long about 1850 and resided in that city for a few years. From there he went to Sandusky and from there to Minneapolis, where he died and was buried.

While the family resided in Cincinnati, Hal, married Miss May Withers, said to have been one of the most beautiful women in that section. To him was born a daughter, Hazel, and in later years the father and mother were divorced.

In 1889 Hal Reid married Miss Bertha Belle Westbrook of St. Louis, an actress and to them "Wallace" Reid was born in 1891 at St. Louis. It was only a few months following his last marriage that Hal and his wife appeared here with their company playing "The Night Before Christmas," a story that he had written with the scenes and characters gathered from among his home town and most people. The play was one of his most successful and from it he reaped a fortune. He was the writer of many other plays that proved good attractions for years.

Wallace Reid's first appearance on the stage was at the age of four when his parents were playing "Slaves of Gold." At the age of ten he went west with his parents and later settled on a ranch in Wyoming until he was a young man, when he returned east and took up newspaper work and then the stage to be followed by his great success in the movie circle. He first attracted attention in "The Birth of a Nation" and from that time on his future was assured. He was married to Dorothy Davenport, a stage star. They have one son.

Wallace Reid never visited here yet his father, Hal Reid, called the writer from Columbus on day just a few months before his death, saying that he and his family wanted once more to visit the scenes of his childhood days. At the time of his death Hal was working on another play that would have featured Cedarville and it was pictures of some old citizens and of locations that he was seeking when they have one son.

Wallace Reid's death was a great loss to the movie world. He was a man of great talent and a great success in the movie circle. He was a man of great talent and a great success in the movie circle.

A GREAT WRONG DONE

Evidently a great wrong has been done Leroy McKinney, who was found guilty of shooting Policeman McKnight and given a life sentence in the penitentiary, being sent up from Clinton county, if it is proven that Louis Vandervoort is the guilty person and not McKinney.

It is said that the evidence was all furnished by a detective agency and this leads us to conclude that to allow this case to go unsettled could mean that almost any person could be accused of a crime and sent over for life.

We know nothing of the character of McKinney or his habits. It makes little difference just now. If he was wrongfully convicted he should not only have his liberty but should be recompensed by Clinton county and it should be no mean sum.

At this time everything seems to be in McKinney's favor for liberty. We are told that the evidence against him was very flimsy but the people in Clinton county were so incensed and worked up over the murder of the officer, that someone had to pay the bill.

If McKinney was guilty of the act he should remain where he is, but if he is innocent he should be liberated.

ONE LEAK COULD BE STOPPED.

There is a great demand for a reduction in taxes and that the cost of administration of public affairs should be reduced. We hear of the high cost of roads; unnecessary expense in conducting our educational institutions; public salaries are far more than they should be and a score of other places where the taxpayer thinks there is a leak.

But there is one place where our state and national government is spending great sums of money and not getting financial return that could be under a different plan. Millions of dollars are being spent in enforcing the prohibition law. Some fines are assessed. Of this we all agree. But the leak comes in the program where dry detectives get a large per cent of the fee. Mr. Taxpayer is called upon to pay the bill of costly trials, court costs and fees, but the detective who works on the per cent plan takes the cream of the fine. The states and the government is not collecting enough to meet this expense. The detective has no expense. His share of the fine is all profit. The taxpayer has no protection under such a system. He had none during the war when public work was done on the cost plus plan. He can hope for little relief under the system we have today.

Is It So Here?

There's a certain place in every town where a certain group gathers 'round in a certain room on a certain floor. And a certain key in a certain door. And a certain word if it's plainly heard in a certain way, by a certain bird. Will bring a certain result, they say. That's certainly good, in a certain way. And a certain fellow will tell you so if he knows, you know that he knows you know.

At the College—

Whatever else may happen, Now that the country's dry, The sailor still will have his port And we farmers our rye. The cotton still has got its gin, The sea coast has its bar, And each of us will have a beer, No matter where we are.

Who Would Think—

That a C. O. D. package is a fish from Boston?

That a leghorn is a musical instrument?

That cheese cloth comes from Switz erland?

That the Kentucky Derby is a hat?

That a flexible band plays either classic or jazz music?

AND ADAPTED FOR REINDEER

Northern Canada, it is estimated, Could Support Enormous Herds of Good Feed Cattle.

Canada is a roomy land, and its back region can never be used for agricultural purposes and where neither sheep nor cattle can be raised profitably, comprises about 1,500,000 square miles. If we may accept as fairly accurate the statement of Alaskan reindeer men that a reindeer requires about 30 acres for grazing in the sub-Arctic and Arctic regions of North America, then Northern Canada can support between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 animals.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Canadian explorer, who has been trying to convert his countrymen to reindeer culture for several years and has given the subject a great deal of study thinks that the Canadian mainland, north of the so-called habitable line, and the great Canadian archipelago can support 50,000,000 reindeer and musk-ox, another sub-Arctic animal which he thinks may in the near future furnish the world with an appreciable supply of good, wholesome meat.—John G. Holme in Leslie's Weekly.

Mirror in Man's Hat.

A man can manage somehow to get along without a powder tag, but there are occasions when he does need a mirror and a comb for emergency use. To meet this demand, Gustav Peterson, of Trenton, N. J., has contrived a holder for both articles which may be conveniently fastened inside of a hat. It is seen in, being made of cloth, a rectangular piece of which is attached to the inside of the hat by snap fasteners at the corners. This makes the back of the holder; the front is provided by a second piece, of like size, secured to the first one by stitching. The two thus form a pocket. A horizontal line of stitching divides the pocket into two compartments, an upper one to receive the mirror and a lower one to hold the comb. One end of the pocket is left open to permit insertion of comb and glass. A slidable catch engaging the end tooth of the comb retains it in place, and the safety of the mirror is obtained by a flap which snap fastens over it.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY for 1923

GREAT men use arithmetic to reason. Small fry use it to figure percentages. The big fellows live during and after life. The other gang never lives at all. They just come out. Think it over. Simple sum in addition. God is Love. That's a number—One. You are made in God's image. That's another number—One. Very well then, add 'em up. The more you express Love in your daily life, the more you resemble God. Get it? One and one are two. Now then: God is good, and God is everywhere. Therefore, Good is available everywhere. That's two. Add up again. Two and two make four. So why not love humanity and find good in everything. There's no mistake in the figures. The boy that don't like arithmetic don't know what it's for. Maybe we need a new curriculum in the little red school house.

"Give me 80 miles of gas"

If gas could be bought on a mile-per-gallon basis, how differently the motorist would select his fuel. "Give me 80 miles of gas." Sounds funny but that's practically what it amounts to. You pay so much for so much gas and expect a certain mileage in return.

If you will measure the mileage cost per gallon on Columbus Gasoline you'll become a steady Columbus customer. Thousands of motorists use only pure Columbus Gasoline. Try it for more mileage, better pickup, more power, smoother running.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

We love the briny ocean wave that tops the mighty main;
and even on the swimmin' hole, the waves is safe an' sane.
We brag on waves in suburn hair, an' dote on waves of brown, but natur' changes mightily, when the cold wave hits the town.

WAVES
The ripplin' wave of merriment is mighty hard to beat, that underscores a Marcel wave which waites down the street. . . I quaff the waves of harmony in Mary Liza's song, but a feller has to hunt his hole, when the cold wave comes along.

The wave is allers graceful in the forest's leafy boughs;
the farmer waves approval, at his herd of white-faced cows. . . We smell the wave of scandal, when it oozes through the town—but gosh, we can't smell nothin' when the cold wave settles down.

Find the Prisoner Not Guilty

By CHARLES E. BAXTER
(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

He was defended by an indifferent lawyer, and he appeared not to have the ghost of a chance till he went into the box. To begin, he had just come out of the pen after serving a sentence of fourteen years for burglary and assault.

He had been a criminal all his life, starting as a sneak thief and graduating as a strong-arm man. He was mild-mannered, uneducated, though strong, a stubble of beard fringed his unwashed face, his eyes were shifty. He could just read and his writing abilities were limited to being able to sign his name. Of course nobody thought he had the ghost of a chance of escaping on the manslaughter charge.

He slouched into the box, and took the oath indifferently.

"The prisoner will tell his story in his own way," his counsel had said. He glanced indifferently at the jury, who sat back with bored expressions. They had already made up their minds. The judge had made up his. It was to be twenty years.

"I sure did kill Stiff Larrigan,"

The prisoner's counsel elevated his eyebrows and smiled at the prosecuting attorney. That was not the way to begin. The prosecuting attorney smiled back at the other. He didn't care what sentence the prisoner got; it was all in the day's work to him, and there was a woman charged with homicide to follow. Much more interesting than the affairs of this prisoner.

"I sure did kill him—but listen, yer honor. He played a d—n low trick—"

The judge rapped smartly. "Such language will not be tolerated in court," he said.

The prisoner looked apologetic. "It's this way, yer honor," he said. "Stiff Larrigan and me was pals. We pulled off a whole bag of tricks and the police never got wise to us. There was five burglaries in Philadelphia."

Sensation. What was the prisoner's counsel doing, permitting him to give his case away?

"Then there was that case in Pittsburgh. Stiff, me and Bill Oates framed it up. The cops got us and I got fifteen years in the pen. I ain't kicking. I served twelve and got out on good conduct."

"Afore I went up for trial I got word from Stiff. If I wouldn't give certain things away he'd see that me wife and the kid didn't come to want. So I took me medicine and said nix."

"Fifteen years is a long time, yer honor, even when three of it gets docked. But I served me time and come out. Me wife had stopped coming after the first year or two. Fact is she died."

He drew his ragged sleeve across his eye. The judge, emotionally provoked, wondered whether twenty-five years wouldn't do better than twenty.

"She died of hunger, yer honor. It was the bad year—no work and Stiff he hadn't done what he'd said he'd do. When I come out her tombstone had already begun to topple over."

"Confine yourself to the evidence," snarled the judge.

The prisoner sniffed. "I wanted to git even with Stiff Larrigan over that, but after a while I give up troubling. It didn't seem to matter when she'd been dead so long, and if Stiff had forgotten, well, I guess lots of others would have."

"Strange, thing was about the kid, though. You see, yer honor, the old woman had been proud. Wouldn't let the neighbors know she was starving—but the kid—well, she'd saved all the scraps for him. After she died some one took him away. I found at last that it was Stiff. Guess he'd had a spark of conscience or something."

"I set off to find him. But Stiff had got mixed up in some trouble and was lying low. And then they looked on me as a stool-pigeon for a long time and wouldn't let me see him. You git forgotten after serving twelve year."

"But at last I did find Stiff. It was by accident more'n anything else. I was in a scatter and saw three men talking together, and overheard how they was planning to pull off a trick. I knew one of them for Stiff immediately. The other was Red Rube."

"The third was Dick. Kid of seventeen, yer honor, and Stiff had brought him up to be a sneak thief like his daddy started. I listened, and I thought of his mother, and I picked up an iron bar I seed and laid Stiff out. That's all, yer honor."

The jury stirred in the box. The prosecuting attorney woke up too late to realize that he had thrown away his chances. The jury consulted without retreating.

"I agreed upon your verdict?"

"We find the prisoner not guilty."

"Prisoner, you are discharged," snapped the judge. "You've had a lucky escape."

The prisoner's eyes turned toward the court. A boy of seventeen, seated among the visitors, came quickly toward him. They clasped hands and, arm in arm, left the court together.

"Call the next case!" snapped the judge.

How Doctor Doyle Started.

You never can tell. S. S. McClure relates that once, calling upon Andrew Lang in London, while on a search for fiction, the latter casually remarked that a doctor named Doyle was turning out some literary "pony shooters." Thus was the great A. Conan, Sherlock Holmes and all brought to America.—New York World.

Vague Prospect.

"No Sebastian, I am sorry, but I am sure that we could not be happy together. You know I always want my own way in everything." "But, my dear girl, you could go on wanting it, you know, after we were married."

Horses Have Musical Ears.

The musical acuteness of horses is demonstrated by the rapidity with which cavalry horses learn the significance of bugle calls.

LESSON FOR JANUARY 28

THE RICH MAN AND LAZARUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 16:19-31. GOLDEN TEXT—Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.—1 Tim. 6:17. REFERENCE MATERIAL—Psalm 49:1-20; II Cor. 12:1-9; I Tim. 6:17-19. PRIMARY TOPIC—Story of a Rich Man and a Beggar. JUNIOR TOPIC—The Poor Rich Man and the Rich Poor Man. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Penalties of Selfishness. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Right Use of Wealth.

In this lesson we are afforded a peep into two worlds where we see disclosed extremes of character and conditions. No more graphic picture could be drawn showing the contrast of two lives. These lives were intended to be representative. The rich man descends from the highest pinnacle of worldly enjoyment to the depths of endless misery. The poor beggar ascends from utter wretchedness and misery to the loftiest heights of blessing.

I. Contrasted Lives (vv. 19-21). 1. The Rich Man (v. 19). He lived in a mansion secluded from the common people. He was clothed in costly raiment; his outer garments were of purple and his inner garments of fine linen. He fed upon the richest food that could be provided. His sin was to selfishly indulge his appetites without consideration for others. 2. The Beggar (vv. 20, 21). He was laid at the rich man's gate with the hope of getting at least the crumbs from his table. The dogs of the street were more kind to him than the rich man. Lazarus means "God is a helper," indicating that a godly life shone through his poverty. We learn from these contrasted lives that worldly condition is no sure test of a man's state in the sight of God. Rich men are not all wicked or selfish, and not all poor men are godly.

II. Contrasted Deaths and Funerals (v. 22).

1. The Beggar. He was found dead and his body hurried off to a pauper's grave. No notice was taken of it by the world. 2. The Rich Man. He also died. His gold could not bribe the messenger of death. Doubtless a costly funeral was held, attended by those who moved in his class of society. Death is the common end to which all classes must come.

III. Contrasted Destinies (v. 23).

1. The Beggar. He was at once carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom. The souls of believers are especially cared for at the hour of death. 2. The Rich Man. Though he had an elaborate funeral he lifted up his eyes in hell, being in torment. When the veil of futurity is lifted we see that the positions of these men are reversed. The poor man was in the company of just men made perfect, because of his godly life while on earth, and the rich man is stripped of his purple and fine linen and cast into hell with all his wealth, because while on earth he only lived for selfish ends.

IV. The Reality and Fixedness of Life Beyond the Grave (vv. 24-31).

1. The Cry for Mercy (v. 24). Dives, which is the Latin name for "rich man," was now willing to claim relationship to Abraham. He was keenly conscious, and the appetites which controlled him while on earth were still with him. Instead of a means of gratification they were now an instrument of torture. Part of the torment of hell will be the cravings of appetite and lust, with no means of their gratification. 2. Abraham's Reply (v. 25). This reply cast the matter back upon the man's memory. He said, "Son, remember!" The lashings of a guilty conscience will be most real in hell. 3. Their Fixedness (v. 26). Human destinies are fixed by the choices during the life. When one passes out of this life he enters into an unchangeable state and condition. 4. God's Word and the All-Sufficient Light (vv. 27-31). Dives now requested that Lazarus go on an errand of mercy to his brethren. He requested the testimony of a spirit of more value than the Word of God. Many today are more willing to trust the rappings of a ghost than the sure Word of God. Abraham declared that God's Word is sufficient—that those who reject Moses and the prophets would not expect though visited by one who had risen from the dead. The greatest miracles will not affect the hearts of men who reject the Bible.

Development.

Development seems to be the method by which God works, and development is change—change which, by no means, involves imperfection; and this for the reason that laws, which obtain in the realm of the finite, may, or may not, obtain in the realm of the infinite.—Rev. N. S. Thomas, D. D.

Man Lives His Beliefs.

A man lives his beliefs however much he may betray his creed.—Sir Henry Jones.

To Take Out Creak.

If shoes squeak saturate the soles with linseed or sweet oil or melted lard. Let the shoes stand in one of these lubricants overnight. Many puncture a hole through the sole and the inner lining above it and say this will effectively stop the creak or squeak.

Thought for the Day.

Some people think they are conservative when they are really ignorant.

Mailing Packages. When sending parcels a distance through the mail, it is wise to wrap them in several papers, each one addressed and tied, so if the outer wrappings come off the destination will still be known.

Mistaken Policy.

People shouldn't be so sayin' with their smiles. The more you give the more you get, applies to pleasant looks. The feller that looks like he had a pain in his equator when he greets you is cheatin' himself outen the joy of life.—Thomas Jefferson Putnam.

Full of Trouble.

The Tramp (at the back door)—Lady, will you please give me a glass of water, I'm so terribly hungry that I don't really know where to spend the night.—Paris Le Rire.

Resounding Laudation.

If you want to hear yourself praised, go somewhere where there's a good echo and talk.—Boston Transcript.

MODERN WAYS FOR MODERN DAYS

Years ago the housewife had little choice in the method of keeping her house in order. Just common yellow soap was all that was available which required a large amount of elbow grease and patience to make the home look presentable. Then after the operation it required a large effort to offset injurious effects of some yellow soaps upon the hands.

Today is quite different; for the housewife has at her disposal the "Modern Ways for Modern Days" THE RUB-NO-MORE "QUINTET" which cleans Everything from Cellar to Garret.

R-N-M White Naptha Soap, "Biggest and Best Yet" is made to last and satisfy. It contains the highest grade of tallow and vegetable oils, making it a superior soap. The naptha also greatly helps remove the dirt. R-N-M White Naptha Soap is in a class by itself. Works fine in any kind of water.

Rub-No-More Soap Chips is another high grade product that will wash the finest fabrics without injury and is made particularly for use in washing machines.

Then the Rub-No-More Washing Powder with 25 years of satisfaction behind it, makes the hardest water soft as velvet; also cleans and purifies. It is a great soap saver.

Spotless Cleanser for the bath-room and kitchen is indispensable to the woman who prides herself in having a modern home. It cleans the hardest job with ease.

Rub-No-More Yellow Naptha Soap is a big 12 oz. bar and will more than "cleanse the housewife" who likes a yellow soap. Makes oceans of suds and it does not injure the hands.

Every woman should take advantage of Rub-No-More Week, January 29 to February 3 and ask any of the following dealers in Cedarville for a Free Sample of Rub-No-More Washing Powder and Spotless Cleanser. They are free for the asking at:

C. E. Masters, R. H. Little, M. C. Nagley, H. Bates, R Bird & Sons Co, W W Trout, Pringle Meat Market

Then in addition the Trade Marks on every Rub-No-More brand are good for valuable premiums. Every lady will be surprised at the fine results and the labor saved by using Rub-No-More brands. Rub-No-More once used we feel confident, will always be used.

A Ford touring car driven by Mrs. Mary Glass of Xenia hit a Cottage Bakery truck in the public square last Saturday. Mrs. Glass was driving west on Xenia avenue and came onto Main street at a speed faster than safety permitted. The truck had right of way and was not damaged but the front of the Ford was badly bent and twisted.

Latest word from Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Turnbull and Miss Bernice Wolford, who toured South, is that they arrived in Orlando, Saturday. The trip was made without a mishap and they report the mercury standing at 70 in that locality.

The Xenia High School was closed down Wednesday for the week due to the gripp epidemic.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tarbox and daughter, Ellen, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waddle in Columbus.

Her death came as a great shock to the family, as well as to the many friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby. Doris was born in Dayton, O., Oct. 17, 1920. An older daughter, Barbara, aged 9 years, has been quite sick with the flu, but is improved. There was no funeral and the remains were taken to Plattsburg, Wednesday afternoon. Interesting Facts About OUR FLAG

IN Philadelphia there is a little house nestling 'neath a flowering skyscraper which is owned by the American people, who bought it some years ago and who today carefully guard it against the dangers of fire and storm. The citizens in Philadelphia take patriotic pride in protecting it for you and me. It was once the home of Betsy Ross. Within its walls our flag was born.

Our flag—did you ever contemplate it? A little English girl who lived in London many years ago and who later came to this better country and became a very useful citizen, used to tell how with her nurse she used to walk along the bank of the Thames and on the many ships there look upon the flags of the world. She knew not where they came from nor what their colors meant, but for design and color she early chose the American flag, not knowing that some day it would be her own, as the prettiest flag that floated in that harbor which was hospitable to all the flags on earth.

It is a beautiful flag, simple in design. It bears no complicated coat of arms, no irregular lines, no intricate design. Many flags are so burdened with devices that they are difficult to make and for that reason in many lands few people own the flag of their own country and they see it only when a regiment may pass on parade or they are privileged to behold a decorated building of state. But not so with us. The flag is part of every well equipped household. It is complete without it.

The Department of Commerce now proposes to standardize this beautiful and simple emblem of the United States. It has been made by almost any measure and proportions, of times differing. To change this so that all flags may at least appear the same the Department of Commerce proposes to determine fixed dimensions for the flag in ten defined sizes, from small to large, in which it will have the cooperation of the various government departments and the Fine Arts Commission.

It was John Adams who introduced the resolution which made the Betsy Ross plan our flag official. His resolution, which was adopted by the American Congress on June 14, 1777, declared that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, that the union be thirteen stars, white on a blue field representing a new constellation.

At that time Washington said "We take the stars from Heaven, the red from our Mother Country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing Liberty." Hereafter, the generally accepted proportion of our flag was that the length should be twice the width. That proportion at least has been accepted as good form. There are seven red stripes and six white. The outside stripe at top and bottom being red, the white field covering the width of the four red stripes at the top and now there are forty-eight stars on the field of blue. If you haven't a flag in your home, either get one or make one. It is the symbol not only of American life but of the American home. Have the emblem of your home in your home.

FARM AND FIELD NOTES

There are many important public sales falling due within the coming weeks. Farmers should not overlook our sale column. Besides farm sales there will be sales of high grade stock. The successful farmer of today takes no chances on breeding scrubs. The best pays the most in the long run.

Harry Townsley, administrator of the estate of Grover Brickel will sell the farm equipment and stock that belonged to the deceased on the 30th day of this month, Tuesday, on the Frank Brickel farm. In the list of horses are a number of promising trotters that are well bred. Some of these animals have been worked and have stopped off in good shape. There is also a quantity of corn for sale along with other farm property.

Creswell Farms' claim the distinction of holding the first Big Type Poland China sow sale that was ever held in this township. This firm has been breeding Poland Chinas for well on to twenty years and yet this is the first sale the public has been invited to attend. About fifty tried sows are catalogued. This firm has a number of sows from males that have blood from families that are the top-notchers of the Big Type world. A review of the catalogue will convince you that some extra fine blood goes on the market on Wednesday, January 31. The sale will be held at Central garage.

O. A. Dobbins has been appointed Trustee in Bankruptcy of O. G. Garman, a well known farmer living near South Solon. He will sell stock, implements and feed on Saturday, Feb. 10th. It is said that the assets will be about fifty per cent of the liabilities.

The Greene County Duroc Breeders Association will hold a sale Monday, Jan. 29th at H. E. Sellers' sale barn in Xenia. Forty head of bred sows and gilts go into this sale. Greene county has many breeders of Durocs and these men will place some choice individuals in this sale. R. C. Watt is president of the association and Earl McClellan, secretary.

W. R. Watt last Saturday sold his fast pacer, "War Bride" to a Mr. Jolly of Indianapolis. The consideration was $700. "War Bride" was under the training of Harry Stokes, noted horse man of Springfield. Mr. Jolly will place his new purchase in training at the Indianapolis track for the mile circuit. Mr. Watt also sold another promising young pacer last week to Murdock and Jones.

The Herald the past two weeks has put out many sale bills, in fact many more orders than we have handled in many years in the same space of time. We have been recognized not only by local people but we have had numerous orders from a distance, in localities not considered local. These distant customers have been pleased by the appearance of our bills and the attractiveness of them. Besides sale bills and small sale cards we have just issued the Creswell Farms' catalogue and have copy on hand for the Fendall Hampshire sale of O. A. Dobbins.

The Rockel and Rouse sale of state accredited Holsteins as well as that of other stock and farm machinery will be held Feb. 6th on the Rockel farm on the Possum road near Springfield. This is said to be one of the best dairy herds in this section of the state. The catalogues can be had on application. They were printed from this office.

Thompson and Mace are advertising a big sale for Thursday, Feb. 1, on the Thompson land on the South Charleston pike. 16 head of horses, 9 head of cows; 37 head of hogs and a lot of farm implements go in the sale. The Thompson land has been sold which forces this sale.

THEATRE NOTES.

The super theatrical attraction for the winter season is John Drew and Mrs. Leslie Carter, in "The Circle", a modern comedy by W. Somerset Maugham, which is the offering of the Selwyns at the Victory theatre for three days beginning, Monday, Jan. 29 with matinee on Wednesday.

The announcement that Wagenhals and Kemper will send "The Bat" to the Victory Theatre, Dayton, for three nights only, beginning Thursday Feb. first with matinee at popular prices on Saturday, should cause a flurry among theatregoers. It is a peculiar feature of the history of this colossal success that although it is the best known drama before the public in this generation, that the public knows the least about the story of the play.

They know it is a misty play, but so seriously has the secret of the story been guarded during the three year's show has enjoyed such phenomenal success that no one knows exactly what it is all about. Everyone that has seen it recommends it to family and friends. This is not the same company that was here last season, but is a more important organization, and is the identical company which recently broke fourteen different dramatic records in New York City over the "Subway Circuit."

ATTRACTIVE FARM HOMES

Much Attention Being Given This Question By Those Residing In The Country. One Important Item Not To Be Overlooked.

The transformation that has taken place in the appearance of farm homes both the exterior and interior, within the past few years has been marvelous. Today many country homes are as beautiful and inviting in appearance as those seen in the best residence sections of the cities.

Although tastes differ as to the choice of flowers and shrubbery, and the interior decorations are subject to the whims of the women, the general opinion seems to be that the finishing touch to all is given by the selection of the Ohio State Journal as the news paper for the home.

For over 11 years this great publication has been a welcome messenger to the people. Your grandfather was no doubt one of the early supporters of the Ohio State Journal and gleaned the news of his day from its columns.

The Ohio State Journal has made steady advancement and maintained its place as Central Ohio's best newspaper. The farmer and his family are interested in the news of the world. They also enjoy reading editorial opinions, communications from the readers on the principal topics of the day; the continued stories; Jane Hope; Daily Patterns; Mutt & Jeff in their daily foolishness and numerous other features appearing exclusively in the Ohio State Journal. The Westerner cartoons are always interesting and original.

From a business standpoint the Ohio State Journal is a necessity to the farmer. The Grain Live Stock and the bond and stock market quotations affording an opportunity to closely follow investments. Under the terms of the Annual Bargain Offer now in effect the price will be four dollars for one year's subscription. Those desiring the Ohio State Journal and National Stockman may secure the combination for only four dollars and fifty cents. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office or may be mailed direct to the Ohio State Journal, Columbus, O.
